Capturing the Moments

The path to a new resolution by Mrudul Madaan

The second day started with great zeal. The delegates came up with important and scintillating statistics about the conditions of the people and the deteriorating aftermaths of the armed conflicts. In recent decades armed conflicts have blighted the lives of millions of civilians. Serious violations of International Humanitarian Laws were common. In certain circumstances, some of these violations even constituted genocide, war crimes, etc. In the unmoderated caucus, there was total chaos with many delegates breaking the decorum and standing on benches and shouting to each other until the chair intervened them and brought everything back to normal. The unmoderated caucus was over and subsequently the meeting was suspended for a tea break. After tea, the delegates settled in comfortably for the moderated caucus. Different topics were brought for discussion. Many were passed and discussed. Many working papers were submitted in the end.

The crisis which left an indelible effect

Divya Garg reporting the piracy on Somalian coasts.

The second day commenced with the encouraging words of the Executive Board. The GSL took a start throwing light on the fact that currently more than 49 hostages were still in captivation. There was also a suspect on the involvement of terrorists in the piracy. All of a sudden news came that MRC had attacked the Somalian pirates at the coast of Mitugushu. A handful of countries were supporting the war while all the other opposed it. Iran called it 'an unjustified attack'. Iran questioned USA and India saying that they have been always blowing their trumpets of peace;

why had they initiated this war? Korea stuck to the point of harming the civilians. UK and USA were in favor of the war while India at last moment apologized for the involvement in war. The result to the war was announced. The war had resulted in the death of more than 3500 civilians along with injuries to many. No record of the pirates was traced. The meeting came to an end.

Goals that have to be accomplished in 2015

Jahnvi Katyal reports on the socio-economic problems of the world.

The proceedings of the conference resumed with deliberations on the pending matters of the previous day. The second day's deliberations were somber. Discussions had not been so fruitful due to a lot of disagreement and conflicting arguments among the delegates of different nations.

In the second half, the delegates became enthusiastic and participated in the debate. The delegates of Lesotho and Bangladesh were silent in the conference. The EB gave enough time to the delegates to propose the final working paper. Then the EBs read out the working papers. USA, Kuwait and Indonesia appreciated the working paper of Sweden and asked certain questions. What remains to be seen in the coming year will be cleared tomorrow. Hope that some productive results may be drawn.

Is it the End or the Beginning of the End?

Tamanna Singhal reports on the militarization of the Arctic

There is no denial to the fact that more or less everyone wants to have their hands on the Arctic. The Arctic has turned to a battle ground from a dreamland. The fact to be pondered upon is "Is it the end or the beginning of the end? "

Norway, Russia & Denmark are increasing their military presence throughout the Arctic. The icy sheets are melting due to Global Warming leaving behind untold stories to tell .The Arctic has too much to fight for! Issues ranging from global economy and military to traditional and cultural life of the people were discussed.

The journey of Arctic from the land of ice to dreamland has been a commendable one. But what has been the history is a lesson for us from which we have to learn and make our best efforts to make Arctic a vital land for one and all.

How to Bell the Cat?

Pranvi Singh touches on the indecisiveness of the Arab cabinet as to how to proceed next...

The session 2 of the SPS MUN moved 5 months ahead to the date of 15 November 1966. Leaders of the Arab Nations decided that this won't be taken lightly. An unmoderated discussion was held to make a joint directive to withdraw the UNEF from the borders and sending spies into Israel to get information on their workings.

This was followed by a moderated discussion on the Removal of UNEF from the borders. After this there came an update that Israel was going to release a press report the next day. They took a quantum leap by 7 months ahead and the Arabs were still "preparing" to attack Israel. The level of debate was high and every minister had a different opinion on the crisis updates.

No to Defence, But Yes to Offense

Aditi Jain unravels the second day of the Israeli Cabinet and speculates the proceedings.

The second morning in the JCC Cabinet witnessed agitated ambassadors after fake allegations from the Arab cabinet stirred up the situation. The Commander of Israeli Defense Forces was not willing to resort to negotiate and in case of any casualties to the Israeli population or their territory, they will not sit back and will initiate a war.

The cabinet reached a common consensus to deploy 4500 troops at the Jordanian border in civilian dress code so as to blind the Arab military from their vicious yet peaceful plan. The absence of the Chief Director of Aman hampered the committee's proceedings but the Prime Minister took the situation in control by adopting the portfolio himself.

The international press observed bulks of intellectual opinions from the cabinet but somehow it was still enveloped in the sheets of ambiguity. Till then, Godspeed.
